In one ward in Milwaukee there have been expended $150,000 in street improvements.

The Louisiana Convention has been called by a majority of about seven thousand votes.

A furnished house, nineteen feet front, on Beaver street, Boston, lets for four thousand dollars a year.

Iowa has a population of 808,194—an increase of more than 145,000 in two years, or fully twenty per cent.

Lester Wallack keeps at his country place eight or ten horses, a dozen dogs, an owl, an eagle and many pigeons.

Two couples eloped from Springfield, Kentucky, and were married at Jeffersonville, Indiana, on Tuesday.

In Baton Rouge parish, Louisiana, only five white votes were cast—four of them against a convention.

Lord Amberly, eldest son of Earl Russell, and Member of Parliament for Nottingham, is in Chicago.

David Ryall, the English pugilist who fought Tom Sayers, has accepted the challenge of Tom Allen, also an English pugilist lately arrived in this country.

Major John Esten Cooke was married to Miss Francis Page, daughter of the late Dr. Robert Page, at Saratoga, Clark county, Virginia, on the 18th ultimo.

A race of road locomotives recently took place in England. One of them, with five passengers, made four miles in sixteen minutes.

A firm in Philadelphia has constructed a private telegraph line to New York for the special accommodation of a few business establishments in that city.

Secretary Seward has received a communication from the Japanese Commissioners, recently here, announcing their safe arrival home.

A bill was lost before the Tennessee House of Representatives Wednesday, instructing Senators and requesting Representatives to favor the impeachment of the President.

A story, illustrative of one of the phases of human nature, is told of a French lady, who held in her hand a glass of water and said: "Oh! if it were only wicked to drink this, how nice it would be!"

It is said that the largest number of jewels owned by any private individual in the United States, is possessed by Madame de la Grange, the prima donna. They are valued at over $200,000.

At the serenade to General Sheridan on Monday night, the crowd in Bowdoin Square, Boston, was so great that over fifty ladies fainted. One had her ribs broken, and others were more or less injured.

At Columbia, Boone county, Missouri, on Friday, a man named Norman shot and killed a neighbor named McBain. A difficulty had existed between them for some time, which had grown, according to rumor, out of too great an intimacy between McBain and Norman's wife.

The New York Herald announces that the Associated Press has repealed the rule requiring its members to make common their specials. As that rule was the chief cause of the Herald's dissatisfaction, it is probable it will now remain in the Association.

The German actor, Bogumil Dawison, who is now in a lunatic asylum, always had a morbid taste for playing parts which included delineations of lunacy, and studied in real madhouses to make his representations the more effective.

Mr. Elliott McGrath, a gallant scout in the Confederate army during the war, was brutally murdered, without provocation, near Pocotaligo, recently, by a negro whom he had ordered off his premises. The negro is now in jail.

Mr. Wells, United States Commissioner, has left Washington with the purpose of visiting the principal Western cities, and conferring with Boards of Trade in reference to business interests and the state of trade. He will visit Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis.

The banking house of Stone, McCoy & Co., Independence, Missouri, was robbed Sunday night of several thousand dollars, the exact amount not known. The loss falls mainly on special depositors, the banking balance of the bank on hand being less than three thousand dollars. There is no clue to the robbers.

The Macon Messenger of the 3d, in speaking of the Southwestern railroad, says: It is estimated by the agents of this road that about six thousand bales of cotton have passed over it this season from Alabama, and bound for Northern markets via Savannah, and the cry is still it comes,

The Attorney General of Kentucky decides that the act of the General Assemly to "tax income on United States bonds," approved March 8, 1867, is, that all taxpayers in this Commonwealth who has actually received interest upon United States bonds, between the 10th of January, 1866, and the 10th of January, 1867, whether for themselves or in trust for another, are required to state on oath before the assessor the amount so received, and that it is the duty of sheriffs to collect five per cent. upon the gross amount of such income.

The Louisville Courier says: "Certain Radical scribblers are silly enough to imagine that the imposition of negro suffrage upon Kentucky would give their party the control of the State. They are very much out of it. If every negro fellow between the ages of twenty-one and a hundred were invested with the privilege of voting, and all voted the Radical ticket, the Democracy would still be largely in the majority."

The Knoxville Free Press, of the 9th, says: On yesterday, about 700 head of cattle were stopped here for pasturage. These cattle are from Texas. They were shipped from Memphis by railroad, and are destined for Alexandria and Baltimore and other Eastern markets. They occupied forty-eight cars in their transit. This lot is but the first instalment of about 7,000 head that are on their way to market.

While a groom belonging to the stables of Colonel N. J. Coleman was exercising the celebrated pacing horse, "Ace of Diamonds," hitched to a sulky, on the outer speed-ring of the St. Louis fair grounds, Tuesday, he unfortunately came in collision with an another horse and sulky, the shaft of the sulky piercing entirely through the fleshy part of the hip of the "Ace of Diamonds," it is feared entirely destroying the animal. The driver was thrown with considerable violence from the sulky, but not fatally injured.

The New York Times has a letter from Drew county, Arkansas, which says: "This is probably the most intensely rebel county in Arkansas. Not a loyal paper is read or circulated to any extent here. Many of the whites are nearly as ignorant as the negroes. If the people could be informed we could carry the county for Convention. General Albert Rust is a citizen of this county, and is hard at work against reconstruction. He made a speech the other night, which was a feeble effort, so far as argument was concerned; but his appeal to Southern prejudice was immensely effective with the audience. He said: 'Generals Lee, Johnston, Beauregard and myself are placed beneath the brutal negro.'"

The New Orleans and Selma railroad company was organized in Selma on the 3d instant, by the election of R. M. Robertson, President; J. W. Davis, Secretary, and the following named Directors: R. M. Robertson, John T. Morgan, William N. Boynton, Thos. J. Portis, W. B. Modawell, John T. Walton, William White.

MORN ABOUT MRS. LINCOLN'S WARDROBE.

Comments of the Radical Press.

Mrs. Lincoln on the Hon. Abram Wakeman.

It will be remembered by those who read Mrs. Lincoln's correspondence, published in the AVALANCHE Wednesday, that she is represented as being especially angry with Thurlow Weed and Messrs. Seward and Raymond. In the New York Commercial Advertiser of Saturday afternoon Mr. Weed thus speaks in his own and friend's defense:

In her conversations, Mrs. Lincoln is represented as bitterly denouncing Secretary Seward, for which, of course, there is no warrant or excuse, for he wrongs no man, and much less is he capable of injustice or wrong to woman. But we happen to know (the late Caleb B. Smith, then Secretary of the Interior, being our informant) a fact which incensed Mrs. Lincoln against Mr. Seward. The President gave the Prince Napoleon a dinner, for which Mrs. Lincoln sent to the Secretary of the Interior, for payment, a bill of some nine hundred dollars. This demand, though wholly illegal, coming from the President's wife, embarrassed the Secretary, who called upon the Secretary of State for advice, where he learned that Mr. Seward had also dined the Prince, having the same number of guests, and giving them a duplicate of the dinner at the White House. In fact, Mr. Seward ordered both dinners from the same restaurant, and by his own bill, knew the cost of each. For what Mr. Seward paid three hundred dollars, Mrs. Lincoln demanded nine hundred dollars. But whether three or nine hundred, the claim was alike illegal and could not be paid. For this, however, Mrs. Lincoln quarreled with Secretaries Smith and Seward. This amount, however, was subsequently covered up in a gardener's account, but occasioned scandal, which respect for Mrs. Lincoln measurably suppressed.

Though Mr. Lincoln left an estate which enabled his family to live quite as comfortably as they had ever lived, Congress and the people would have promptly and cheerfully provided munificently for them if Mrs. Lincoln herself, with every advantage that high position gave her, had made friends or inspired respect. And this last exhibition proves how instinctively right the popular estimate of her character was. The fact for which Mrs. Lincoln seeks large publicity, namely, that she received presents valued at $24,000, is a pregnant and suggestive one—suggestive, at least, of offices and contracts, unless the more charitable construction is reached through the assumption that they were expressions of regard and friendship. But it is not known that the wife of any other President, however estimable, was so loaded with jewels, laces, furs, diamonds, rings, etc.

Mrs. Lincoln's propensity to sell things was manifested early, and before any necessity was foreseen. If our information is reliable, eleven of Mr. Lincoln's new linen shirts were sold almost before the remains, which were shrouded in the twelfth, had started for that "bourne from whence no traveler returns." If this is true, we are obliged for Mrs. Lincoln for an expression of her in will. It is pleasant to remember that we were always out of favor in that quarter. And it is equally pleasant to remember that we possessed the friendship and confidence of Mr. Lincoln to the last hour of his life, without paying court, as others did, to Mrs. Lincoln, and in spite of her constant efforts to disturb our relations.

The Cleveland Herald, after remarking that Mrs. Lincoln, by her recent course, has forfeited that claim to forbearance which the public is always ready to extend toward a woman, says:

The facts are just these. Judge Davis, Lincoln's administrator, reported that the estate was worth $75,000. Congress gave Mrs. Lincoln the President's unexpired year's salary, and also gave her $25,000 besides, the same as was allowed the late Mrs. General Harrison.

Congressman Wentworth pressed Mrs. Lincoln's claim for $100,000, but Congress did not think such a gift justifiable. There are other facts that should see the light, and, perhaps, would explain Mrs. Lincoln's present unbalanced circumstances. Among such facts is this, that a bill for some $15,000, for jewelry purchased by Mrs. Lincoln, was presented to Congress, and disallowed, and the secrets of that committee could divulge most remarkable items that through Mrs. Lincoln were presented for payment. We hope these things will all be made public, and that it also may be known how much money has been given in front and from the White House, after the death of Mr. Lincoln, contained. Let the country know the fact that it required an appropriation of $100,000 to make good the spoliation at the White House, and let it be proved who had the benefit of such plundering.

Washington (October 6th) Dispatch to the Philadelphia Telegraph (Radical).

The disclosures concerning Mrs. Lincoln's alleged destitution, and her efforts to sell portions of her wardrobe, excite much comment here, but do not surprise people, as her extravagant habits while at the White House were matters of common notoriety; but how she has managed to squander the $25,000 given to her by Congress, in less than two years, is a mystery to many, who cannot credit the statement. The interest alone of this sum, if properly invested, would have been sufficient to have supported her comfortably during her lifetime. It is known that Mr. Lincoln left nearly fifty thousand dollars to her at his death, and the sale of his property in Illinois after his death brought a considerable sum of money.

New York (October 4) dispatch to the same paper.)

Mrs. Lincoln still remains here, and insists on the sale of her personal effects at auction. Prominent members of the Union League visited her last night and offered to raise her a large sum of money for her support, provided she will recant and take her clothes back to her house. This offer she refused in the most ungracious manner, and said she was bent on punishing certain prominent politicians, among whom are Weed, Greeley, Raymond, Seward and Johnson. She supposes she is doing an injury to the Republican party by this course. She has been put up to this by her relatives, the Todd family, who gave the late President Lincoln so much trouble.

The New York Herald, of the 4th, says:

About four days ago Mrs. Lincoln, her son Tad, and the negro attendant, arrived again in the city and put up at the Brandreth House, the lady entering her name on the books as Mrs. Morris. At this time, her wants becoming very pressing, she was obliged to send the following note to her broker:

SEPTEMBER 30, 1867.

Mrs. L. will trouble Mr. Brady to advance her six hundred dollars, which she hopes soon to return.

Mr. Brady complied with the request and received the following:

NEW YORK, October 1, 1867.

Received of Wm. H. Brady six hundred dollars. MRS. A. LINCOLN.

Gentlemen interested in the widow of the late President called at various times on some of the Republican officeholders, who were partly indebted to that lady for their position, but to no purpose. Among others, in compliance with the following letter, Surveyor Wakeman was waited on, and promised two or three times to accede to Mrs. Lincoln's request. Up to the present, it is said, he has not been heard from:

CHICAGO, September 14, 1867.

W. H. BRADY, Esq.—My Dear Sir: Please call and see Hon. Abram Wakeman. He was largely indebted to me for obtaining the lucrative office which he has held for several years, and from which he has amassed a very large fortune. He will assist me in my painful and humiliating situation, scarcely removed from want. He would scarcely refuse to return in a small manner the many favors my husband and myself always showered upon him. Mr. Wakeman many times excited my sympathies in his urgent appeals for office, as well for himself as others. Therefore he will only be happy to relieve me by purchasing one or more of the articles you will please place before him.

Very truly, MRS. A. LINCOLN.

The New York World of the 5th says:

The people could hardly reconcile the unimpeachable accuracy of the World with such a state of facts, and hundreds came on a simple mission of inquiry to go away satisfied that there was more truth than poetry in the statement. During the day three United States Senators, whose names by request we withhold, called to see Mr. Brady, and on just such a mission as a large number of letters from all parts of the country have also been received by Mr. Brady, asking to know the truth and making indignant protests against permitting a forced consummation of Mrs. Lincoln's plans.

The sales yesterday did not exceed $150, notwithstanding the large number of ladies that called. Many no doubt were prompted by curiosity, and after examining the goods to their satisfaction, retired without purchasing. Among those who called were the wives and daughters of several prominent merchants.

As previously announced, if the greater part of the inventory is not disposed of within a few days, they will be put at auction, and sold for what they will bring.

LETTER FROM COUSIN NOURMA.

The Black Crook—The Fashions in Philadelphia—Interesting to the Ladies.

LANCASTER, PA., October 7, 1867.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: The weather is very cold here. Heavy frosts fall daily, and when rains fall they are very chilly and disagreeable. Every indication promises a cold winter. The birds disappeared several weeks ago. The trees are covered with all the gorgeous hues of autumn, and the fanciful pencilings of Jack Frost's paint brush, though they are very beautiful, yet the process he finds necessary to produce the colorings pinches our noses, and makes our bodies shiver with the cold.

The large number of idle young men in this country is astonishing. They are doubtless the result of the late war. Many of them, however, are maintained in indolence by the false pride of parents, who insist on supporting a miserable aristocracy of feeling and action that does not comport well with their income or origin.

The negro element is becoming a powerful one in the land. Every few days the negroes hold mass meetings, and the most inflammatory harangues are made, urging them to demand their rights as equals before God and man with whites. Already they have become very insolent and presumptuous in demanding all the rights conferred on them by the civil rights bill. A few days ago a big, nasty looking nigger got into the cars at this place, and was told by the conductor to go into the forward car, but the nig grinned at him, told him to go to—a station not on the Pennsylvania Central, and then deliberately walked into the ladies' car and seated himself beside a white lady. She found a seat beside another lady, and the nigger laughed at the joke he had perpetrated, and made himself at home to his destination. The conductor informed those who spoke to him of the affair that he was powerless to assist in the matter. He is permitted to ride a white man but not a nigger from the ladies' cars. The Radicals themselves are getting sick of some of these exactions and impositions. The blacks seem to be increasing in many localities in this State. It is very evident they are expecting to become voters, etc., shortly. They do not work, and doubtless exploiter their subsistence, as is their habit in the South. There is a very small minority portion of the Radical party in this section who favor negro equality. The large majority, however, think it good for the conquered States only.

Business of all kinds is very dull throughout this section; money is exceedingly scarce, and taxes higher than ever before. All these uncomfortable conditions are influencing people to study the causes, and tend to make the Rads sick, tame and anxious, in view of the overthrow that will soon certainly befall them. In view of all this, the Conservatives are hopeful beyond all precedent, and anticipate an early political victory. Even if defeated in the coming election, they will not be despondent, because the gradual gains of the past two years promises certain success in the early future.

The "Black Crook" is running to small audiences at the Academy of Music, in Philadelphia. The scenery is very gorgeous, houses superb, none of the dancers are beautiful, but the greater number of the corypheus are very evidently played out nymphes du pleine. The audience are decidedly tame and undemonstrative. At this place of amusement the fashions of opera cloaks for the winter are coming out. Many readers may be interested to learn that these consist of bright scarlet material with broad borders of gold and white, and these embroidered with gold and colors to suit the fancy. The most prominent and most popular style of head dress consists in combing the hair and twining it in a bandeau on the top of the head. Favorite ear ornaments and collar fastenings are small and brown wood, usually logwood fantastically carved. Ash, however, are in high favor, but their expensiveness has caused a change to be made latterly, and they will rapidly go out of fashion to give way to something which in turn will become expensive because of the demand. Logwood ornaments for this reason are very cheap at present.

The prevailing fabrics of useful and ordinary dress in this country for the winter, consists of French merinoes, Irish poplins and plain silks. These fabrics are best when unmixed. The fancy and stylish patterns are silks embroidered or brocaded in small figures, and in several complementary colors. Favorite expensive fabrics are Gothic moire and satin of Holland, which is satin on one side and silk on the other, and the skirts are made up to permit either side to be worn externally. Very rich and handsome golden and changeable armures are also popular, and so is also the "cloth of the Queen." Speckled poplins and Jasper silks are fashionable, especially for travel.

The favorite and popular colors are of green and its various shades, and golden brown. The latter color has every variety of tint, from light dark brown to fiery golden. Brazilian beetles are favorite ornament

SATURDAY, : : : : : OCTOBER 12, 1867

THE elections in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa have shown conclusively that the tide is setting in against Radicalism. The white people of the North are not willing to invest the colored race with co-equal privileges, or acknowledge their right to elect to office and to hold office. The State ticket in Ohio, of the Radical party, is elected by the skin of its teeth, if elected at all. The groundswell that commenced in California, and made itself felt in Maine, has still moved onward and shows that the people are at length being aroused to a knowledge of the desperate situation into which mad leaders would plunge them. The result in these recent trials of the popular expression, must have a beneficial influence in restoring men entrusted with high office, who have been apparently demented, to a proper recognition of what they owe the country that has done them so much honor, only up to this time, to be betrayed. The fantastic tricks of a little brief authority, have been sufficiently displayed. They have made seas of tears, not unmixed with blood. It is time these exhibitions should cease. Like jealousy, in affairs of the heart, which "doth make the meat it feeds on," they only protract the travail, without the promise of incubating aught of lasting value. It is time the country should awake from the terrible nightmare which has so long oppressed it. Throwing away the practical and practicable which it "had inherited and proved," it followed out the old fable of the avaricious boy who had a fowl with peculiar faculties, and destroyed it that he might grasp all his wealth at once. The Northern mind never regarded our Government as a reality. The reality was deeply impressed on the Southern heart. The truths "bequeathed from sire to son," were burned there in words of fire. Accepting the arbitrament of the sword, they have been willing to abide the consequences, but accept nothing that would lower them in their own esteem, or in the general estimation. The honorable treaties, accorded by GRANT and SHERMAN, had they been concluded, would have shut out all after difficulties, and placed the contending parties in their true light before the world. Aught else has been "the statesman's game," for after consideration. As we have already remarked, the great revolution that has taken place in the public mind in the Northern States must inspire those of the South, unrepresented though they be, with the culminating hope that the day is not far distant when the country will be restored to its ancient equilibrium. It may be hoping against hope, to think that we can return to the primitive days of the Republic, when the fathers of the country lived and shaped the Government, as they thought, for all time—that we, the degenerate sons of patriotic sires, can relume the lights which shone in those days when giants were in our councils, and stood face to face in embattling hosts, warring for the maintenance of Government, and presenting "hearts of controversy" to every wave that beat against its "safe conduct." When CALHOUN and CLAY and WEBSTER were in the National councils, diverse as their opinions were, none questioned their patriotism, and all believed that the counsels they agreed upon would redound to the advantage of the Republic. They were skilled in all the intricacies of our duplicate government, involving the rights of each separate State, and understanding the prescribed Constitutional limit beyond which the General Government, in its several departments, should not go. It was the golden era of our country's prosperity, and with comparatively low taxes, a merely nominal national debt, or none at all, our people experienced no embarrassment from the weight of government, and enjoyed that best of all, that governs least. It may be Utopian to dream of returning to that Arcadian life, when happiness beamed on every face, and each one sat under his vine and fig tree, without apprehension. It may be delusive in the extreme, but still it is a blissful vision,

"And e'en in this dream to be blest
Is so sweet I could ask for no more."

Why will men "seek for power, for plunder and extended rule," at the expense of the happiness of their fellow men? The fate of SAMPSON must be theirs, when the blinded Philistines plucked down the pillars which upheld the edifice whose fall involved them all in a common ruin. We people of the South only covet the peace and rest that will enable us to work out our own destiny. We were born free. We cannot consent to have our late slaves imposed upon us as masters. Such a revolution would be more intolerable than prisons and chains. When we yielded to the bitter fruits of defeat, we thought our acquiescence that there should be no more slaves—that all should be free to work out their own destiny—would "be the be all and the end all here," and new and unheard of impositions—novel in our knowledge of government—become the worst of despotism. Why will our Northern friends seek to trammel us thus? We are of the same lineage. Some of the same blood courses through our veins. We have the same language, the same traditions, the same national glory. Why should we not live under the same wholesome laws, and exert the gifts that God has endowed us with, for the common benefit—for mutual advancement and prosperity, for the happiness of mankind? The people of Ohio, by an overwhelming majority, have decided against negro suffrage. Can they, will they consent to fasten an evil upon the South which they refuse for themselves? Here the colored masses, preyed upon by heartless demagogues, become a dangerous power. They would be comparatively harmless in the great State of Ohio, or any other Northern State, where their numbers are insignificant, compared with the white population. We state the case plainly and fairly, and with no desire to avoid or evade the responsibility that has been thrust upon us in our own downtrodden and scurvily-ridden State. We have only hoped and prayed that others of the Southern States might not be similarly subjugated, and that the dark cloud might eventually pass away from the disc of Tennessee, and all be sunshine once more. The elections that took place on the 8th will not be without their moral effect. The Radicals will doubtless begin to believe that minorities have some rights that deserve to be respected. If they have come out of the contest in Ohio with anything at all, victory has been almost as disastrous as defeat. The vital question in the contest has been decided against them by fifty thousand majority, and BEN. WADE'S re-election is defeated. Pennsylvania and Ohio will not return to Radicalism. Once free from its thraldom, they will assume their places in the true Conservative column, where, beyond peradventure, New York will be found on the 5th of November.

A gang of desperadoes in Clark county, Kentucky, are robbing citizens on the roads. The citizens of Cloverport are organizing for their capture.

Hon. Thomas A. Jenckes, of Rhode Island, the author of the bankrupt bill, is one of the first applicants under it for relief from his indebtedness.

General Joseph Cooper, of the State Guards, tendered his resignation, as commander of the militia, some days since.

Mr. Leonard W. Jerome has rented his house on Madison avenue, and will spend the winter in the South.

A Toronto paper announces the failure of the large mercantile house of Buchanan, Hope & Co., of Hamilton. The senior partner of the firm is the Hon. Isaac Buchanan. The firm has been in existence for over thirty years.

In the Tennessee Legislature on Tuesday nothing was done beyond electing a white man over a negro Assistant Doorkeeper of the Senate, Smith, of this county, voting for the negro, and a negro over a white man Assistant Doorkeeper of the House.

A well founded report has reached the Helena Clarion to the effect that a large number of navy pistols has been shipped clandestinely to the neighborhood of Mariana. If there is truth in the report, the people of that vicinity ought to present the matter in proper shape before the military authorities.

A difficulty occurred on Saturday night last between Messrs. James Mitchell and Lew. Price, of Nicholasville, Kentucky, in which weapons were drawn, but no shooting was done. On Sunday morning, as Mr. Lew. Price was walking in the street with a couple of friends, Mitchell stepped out of his door and commanding Price to halt, shot him through the heart, killing him instantly. Mitchell made his escape.

The Republicans and Democrats of Zanesville closed the campaign on Monday night, the first with a grand torch light procession, and their opponents by a procession and a meeting at the court house. The Republicans, in their route, countermarched in the vicinity of the Democratic meeting, when a crowd from the latter attacked the procession with pistols, clubs and bricks. Ten men were wounded in the melee, but none fatally.

A writ of habeas corpus was granted in the United States Circuit Court, at St. Louis, Wednesday, directing the Warden of the penitentiary to produce the body of William Murphy, on Tuesday next. Murphy was, some time ago, sentenced, by a military commission, to ten years imprisonment. The jurisdiction of a military tribunal to try a citizen for a criminal offense will now be tested.

About twelve o'clock on Tuesday night, the poster room in the fifth story of the Union and Dispatch office was discovered to be on fire. The foreman prevented its spread to other departments of the office. Loss, $3,000 or $4,000; covered by insurance. Mr. Huntington's store, on Cherry street, was completely gutted, and the loss from fire and removal $8,000, which was insured.

The Chicago Journal says: "We have it from a very authentic source that a representative of his estate, shortly after the death of Mr. Lincoln, found on deposit, in one of the departments in Washington, the sum of $75,000 in Government securities to the credit of the ex-President. In addition to this, Congress voted to Mrs. Lincon $25,000, and when Mr. Lincoln left Springfield for Washington, to enter upon the Presidency, he informed his friends that his Springfield property was, at that time, worth about $16,000."

A telegram to the Richmond (Virginia) Dispatch says that on Tuesday the United States authorities, who are returning to the owners their farms in Norfolk county, which had been squatted on blacks during the war, went to Taylor's farms on Willoughby Point, but finding the blacks armed and refusing to vacate the land, the officers retired. Many farms in that district are similarly situated, and the negroes express a determination not to be driven off. In the case mentioned it was offered to transfer the negroes; to give them Wise's farm, but they refused.

Senator Howard's letter, telegraphs the Washington correspondent of the New Orleans Times, arguing the right of Senators to sit in judgment on the impeachment trial themselves, making the charges and pronouncing the judgment in advance, has been suppressed for the present, upon the advice of certain leading Radical and financial men, who deprecate the results of impeachment upon financial interests, as well as upon the political interests of the Radical party in the presidential election.

A few days ago, Mrs. Ann Milan, of Chicago, whose husband had been sent to Bridewell upon a trifling charge, married a man named Martin Whalen. She was subsequently arrested upon the charge of bigamy, at the instance of a daughter, but when the time for examination came the daughter failed to appear against her mother, and the latter was discharged. She returned to the house of Milan, and on Monday last gave him a dose of morphine, which killed him. She then made her escape.

A dispatch from Huntsville, Texas, announces the death of Colonel A. M. Branch, formerly a member of the Confederate Congress. The deceased was a Virginian by birth, and came from respectable parents. While yet a young man, he removed to Texas, and located at Houston. The secession excitement found him a decided Unionist, and he voted against the ordinance taking the State of the Union; but when the deed was done, acquiesced in the will of the majority, and became an active supporter of the Confederacy. In the latter part of 1863 he was elected to Congress from the Third district of Texas, and served until the suppression of the rebellion. He was a member elect to the Federal Congress.

H. H. Thomas, Quartermaster General on Brownlow's staff, says the Union and Dispatch, was on Tuesday publicly denounced at the Stacey House by General Dawson, as a liar, a thief and a scoundrel; Dawson having been told that Thomas had accused him of cowardice in assisting Walker in the rencontre with Colonel J. Albert Smith, a short time since. Thomas denied the charge, and asserted that Dawson was armed. Throwing open his coat, Dawson declared he had no weapon about him, and repeated his denunciation. A large crowd gathered around the two, though no fight was anticipated, and Colonel Smith stepping up said that if there was to be any fighting done, he wanted "a hand in." Dawson having no quarrel with Smith, and seeing no chance of fair play, withdrew, and the affair ended without serious results.

A BLASPHEMOUS SHOW.

A Negro Exhibition in Florida.

The New York World has the following, which it says it has been at much pains to verify:

In the streets of Tallahassee there appeared a handbill, announcing that on a certain evening, at a certain hall, there would be an exhibition of scenes from the Bible, for the benefit of the colored people. When the time arrived and the curtain rose, there appeared a big, burly negro, fantastically dressed, representing the person of Christ, with a lighted candle stuck in his wool to give the idea of the halo around the head of the Savior. Twelve other negroes, in corresponding costume, represented the twelve apostles. The performance consisted in the exhibition of certain scenes in the life of Jesus; and our informant states that the idea was understood to have been originally suggested by some white persons to the colored performers, for the purpose of inculcating the notion that the Savior was a negro. The performance broke up in a general fight, occasioned by some disturbance originating among the audience, which was composed exclusively of blacks. We beg our readers to believe that we have not described this inexpressibly revolting occurrence without having duly verified it as a fact. Whether it was, in point of fact, the suggestion of some white man, or whether it sprang from a negro origin exclusively, it shows of what that people are capable in respect to religious ideas.

GREAT OUTRAGE.

A Woman Arrested by the Military at Gallatin.

The Nashville Banner of the 28th says: "A Government Inspector of still houses visited Miss Harper's neighborhood, one night last week, and was so unfortunate as to have his horse stolen. Colonel Leib, stationed at Gallatin, was advised of this, and took possession of a horse belonging to her brother, who was a noncombatant in the late war. Last Thursday, Miss Harper, in company with her brother, visited the Fair at Gallatin, for the purpose of having an interview with Colonel Leib, with the interrogation whether he intended returning her brother's horse. If not, she thought he should take the saddle and bridle also, and had therefore brought them along. Colonel Leib ordered her to "shut her mouth, or he would cause her to be placed under arrest." Miss Harper replied that she "was not afraid of him or his whole band." As she was turning to leave the grounds for home, she was confronted by a band of some thirty cavalrymen, who presented their pistols in close proximity to her head, and ordered her to Colonel Leib's headquarters. After a brief detention she was released, on giving bond in the sum of $5,000. The friends of Miss Harper have advised her to sue Colonel Leib for false imprisonment. Miss Harper carried off the premium as the best lady rider. She is a sister to Captain Ellis Harper, whose history is familiar to our readers."

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Our city patrons are requested not to pay any one for subscriptions to the AVALANCHE without a certificate from the office authorizing them to collect.

GALLAWAY, REID & CLUSKEY.

POLICE COURT.—Met this morning—result, $23 collected.

LAW COURT.—The October term will commence on Monday next.

COMMITTED.—William Wesley was committed, yesterday, by Justice Hall, for highway robbery.

Larry Harmstad & Co., the well known steamboat agents, have lost a fine safe, a description of which can be seen in our advertising columns.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The October term of this Court will commence on next Monday at the usual place.

SICK.—We are pained to learn of the indisposition of Mr. Harry Beek, the "local" of the Appeal. We hope to see him in our rounds again in a few days.

We are pleased to learn that the report of the death of Colonel M. S. Ward, of the Panola Star, was, at last accounts, not true. He is in a very critical condition, but, we trust, will be preserved to his country and friends.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—Mike Maher was fined $50 yesterday for maltreating his child and resisting the officer who attempted to arrest him.

ROW IN A BOARDING HOUSE.—Jenny Mack, a beerjerkist, raised a quarrel in a Jefferson street boarding house, for which she had to pay $25.

OBSTRUCTION.—B. Rocco obstructed the sidewalk yesterday, and will have to appear before Commissioner Richards for it to-day.

DISORDERLY.—Samuel Leake was yesterday arrested on complaint of Dr. Brooks, for being disorderly. We didn't learn the particulars.

VAGRANCY.—George Washington, colored, is enjoying the hospitalities of the stationhouse, on a charge of vagrancy.

CHEAP.—The material of the Commercial and Argus was sold under deed of trust, yesterday morning, for $1,500. It was bought by Bigley, Mellersh & Co.

RECOVERED.—The mules stolen from Mr. Tate, near Hernando, Mississippi, were yesterday recovered through the exertions of the Sheriff's officers.

COMMITTED.—Adam Lawrence and William Atkinson, were yesterday committed to jail by Squire Miller, on the charge of breaking into the house of Mr. Osgood. These men are old offenders, and are both negroes.

QUERY.—Did the battle between two prominent journalistic attaches of this city, under the cistern tank on the bluff, come off? We were engaged, and not able to be on the ground, and now ask for information.

MUNICIPAL COURT.—Will not be in session to-day, as it will "change its base" to the new Greenlaw building, corner of Second and Union streets. On Monday Court will convene at this latter place.

MELANCHOLY.—We were pained to hear last night of the death of Mrs. Pomeroy. Her husband died last week and she thus early followed him, and by her death leaves two interesting children orphans.

MISS SALLIE.—We would direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mrs. Sullivan in another column. It is not necessary to assure our readers that her stock is of the best in town, for those who know her are aware that she would have no other.

THE HORSE THIEVES.—These gentlemen, who have so long been operating extensively in this locality, and who had a regular organization established for the last four or five months, were arrested and broken up by Sheriff Winters, and to him belongs the credit of riddling the county of this pest.

HAMS STOLEN.—Night before last a cask of hams was stolen from the Memphis and Ohio depot. The company have suffered from several such depredations, but have never been able to trace the larceners home. Sheriff Winters was employed to ferret out the thief or thieves, and he yesterday arrested Daniel Malory, a watchman at the depot, in whose house he found a number of the hams. He was committed to jail for trial Monday.

THANKS.—Our gallant friend, Major Jas. G. Barbour, of the house of E. Robbins & Bradley, has placed us under obligations for late Northern papers. We were glad to greet his return home, in good health, full of patriotic enthusiasm, excited by his presence in Pennsylvania, when the Democracy "came marching along," last Tuesday.

SOON COOLED DOWN.—During the examination yesterday before Squire Miller, of Lawrence and Atkinson, for breaking into the house of Mr. Osgood, Lawrence became enraged at one of the witnesses, and, seizing a soda water bottle which happened to be near at hand, was about to demolish the witness, when a revolver in the hands of the 'squire suddenly brought him to his senses, and he agreed to behave like a respectable African.

COMING.—We understand that the celebrated Japanese troupe, which created such an excitement in New York and all through it least a few months ago, will open at the Greenlaw Opera House on Monday. Our readers may expect something rich, if the troupe has not been overjudged.

IN THE CITY.—Our old friend E. H. Poe, of the Des Arc Citizen, is in town soliciting advertisements and subscriptions for his paper, and we bespeak for him the patronage of our community. The Citizen was established in 1854, and has a large circulation in Arkansas. Our merchants could not bring their business before the citizens of Arkansas in a surer way than by advertising in this paper.

F. F. ADEN.—We call attention to the advertisement in another column of F. F. Aden, commission and purchasing agent, St. Louis, Missouri. He will attend to all business intrusted to him, giving special attention to orders for merchandise and supplies. Mr. Aden is highly recommended to us as capable, efficient and reliable. Read his advertisement.

THE HELENA CLARION.—We enjoyed the pleasure, yesterday, of a call from Oscar Burnett, Esq., of that able and enterprising journal, the Helena (Arkansas) Clarion. Mr. Burnett visits Memphis on business connected with his journal, and we trust it will be the pleasure of our merchants to extend a liberal patronage to the Clarion. It is one of the best papers in Arkansas, of sound political sentiments, which reaches a large constituency of readers, all of whom trade with Memphis, and it is the interest of the business men of the city to give it their support.

GRAND TOURNAMENT AND BALL.—We learn from our clever and handsome friend, Harry Chilter, Esq., of the Mississippi and Tennessee railroad, that a grand tournament is to be given at Oakland, Yallobusha county, Mississippi, on the 23d and 25th of October, and a grand ball on the night of the 23d. He says splendid arrangements have been made to render the occasion pleasant to all who may attend, and Harry is a reliable source. We hope the tournament will be witnessed by thousands.

FINED.—Asa Hill, Esq., Passenger Agent of the Memphis and Ohio railroad, was fined fifty dollars by Commissioner Richards of the Metropolitan Police, for selling tickets for other roads connecting with the Memphis and Ohio, without a license therefor. It is claimed by Mr. Hill that he is not required by law to take out a license for such sales. The case has been held over for some time, and the Commissioner finally decided that license was required. Mr. Hill entered an appeal to test the question in the Municipal Court.

PERSONAL.—Captain William S. Davis, the popular agent of the Memphis and White river packet company, at Little Rock, is at present in the city, sojourning at the Overton Hotel.

John F. Boyd, general agent of the Memphis and Louisville railroad, is also stopping at the Overton.

Sam Lewis, the general agent of the Atlantic and Great Western railroad, has just returned from the grand excursion to Niagara, and holds forth at the Overton.

MAYER, MARSHUETZ & CO.—We ask our patrons to read the advertisement in another columns of that enterprising firm of Mayer, Marshuetz & Co., Jefferson and Second streets, importers and wholesale dealers in tobacco, cigars, smokers' articles, etc. Perhaps the best recommendation we could give this house is the simple and truthful statement that we passed there several times yesterday and during the week, and each time found everybody busy as a bee, selling, packing and shipping goods. "Where ever the hen scratches, there is the worm also."

THE NEW MEMPHIS.—The best house of the season greeted Lady Don last night on the occasion of her benefit. The pieces selected were the "Ladies' Club," a piece of but slight merit, and one that covered no new point that we saw, and "Kenilworth." "Kenilworth" was the piece of the night, and is one of the best burlesques we have ever witnessed. Lady Don as Leicester, was easy, and beyond doubt exhibited a grace of lower contour but seldom seen. Powers, when he fashioned the Greek Slave, must have dreamt of some such. Elsterton, in both pieces, was excellent, and his burlesque make up of Elizabeth was good in the extreme. France as Varney, the Master of the Horse, paraded nicely in the circus act, and several excellent points. To-night "Kenilworth" will be repeated, to conclude with "Mischief Making."

A NEW MEDICINE.—Dr. Stillman has discovered a new system of medication, based on physiological action. He states that the instead of the preservation of health is in the great secret of the preservation of health is in the chemical operation of the blood, which these experiments have brought to light, etc., etc. We are not sufficiently scientific to explain fully the qualities of this medicine, further than that it is a very pleasant mineral water, and we like the taste. We are trying a bottle, and shall speak further on the subject soon.

Ed. Worsham, in the AVALANCHE building, one of the most enterprising newsmen in the country, has everything in his line that can be called for, and, in looking over his latest invoices, we noticed the Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Metropolitan Record, Waverley Magazine, Turf, Field and Farm, Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, New York Clipper, Sporting Times, La Crosse Democrat, Saturday Night, Freeman's Journal, Irish American, Irish People, Irish Republic, Boston Pilot, Banner of Light, New York Ledger, Frank Leslie's Pleasant Hours, Chimney Corner—monthly part, Broadway and People's Magazine, Peterson for November, stationery, balls and bound books. His stock of stationery is unexcelled, and he has base balls in abundance.

BOARD OF THE COUNCIL.

The Council met, according to adjournment, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon; Chairman Hurlbut presiding.

Alderman Hill offered a resolution from the Finance Committee, as their report, on the latest phase of the paving question, rescinding the introduction with a statement that, owing to the short space of time, the committee could not prepare a formal report, and he hoped the explanation would be satisfactory, as the committee really did not have time. If a formal report was insisted on, the committee could prepare it by to-morrow morning. No objections being made, the resolution was read as follows:

Resolved, That the Finance Committee and City Attorney are hereby directed to draw up the necessary details of a contemplated modification of Forrest, Mitchell & Co.'s contract, and submit the same at the next meeting of the Board for their consideration.

Alderman Passmore moved its adoption.

Alderman Shaw.—Some explanation is due the Board as to the reasons of the Committee for offering the resolution. It was plain that the best interests of Memphis demanded the paving of Main street, and that the present contractors could not do it under their contract, without some action by the Board. Every sacrifice should be made to get it paved before the bad weather sets in, and if any compromise could be arrived at it should be done.

Alderman Glancy wished to wait until next meeting before any definite action was taken.

The motion on the adoption of the resolution was then put and carried without a dissent.

Alderman Passmore then, by unanimous consent, introduced the following:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Board that to relieve the financial embarrassments of the city the charter should be so amended as to authorize the levy of a special tax, sufficient to discharge the present due debt of the city, and with a view to accomplish this end a special committee of three be appointed to memorialize the Legislature.

After a short discussion the resolution was adopted, and the chair appointed as said committee Aldermen Passmore, Johnson and Shaw.

Alderman Lemon moved that the chair be added to the committee, which motion was put by Alderman Passmore and carried.

Chairman Hurlbut then announced, in accordance with resolution adopted at a late meeting, the names of the members of the new standing committee—that on claims—as Aldermen Shaw, Brown, Wickersham and Smith.

Alderman Hill requested permission before adjournment to inform the Financial Committee that it would have a meeting at No 10 Madison street at half past ten o'clock to-day, to consider the business of the committee.

The Board then adjourned.

We copy the following from the Evening Ledger, not being able to ascertain any of the particulars through a different channel. We give the statement of our cotemporary:

A MYSTERIOUS MURDER.—The community of Sardis, Panola county, Mississippi, were thrown into a state of great excitement last Saturday evening by a most shocking tragedy, whose mysterious circumstances have materially added to the general horror. Late in the afternoon Dr. A. M. Settle, well known in this city, and an old man named Anthony Foster, left Sardis, on their way home, each residing a few miles from the town. They were mounted, Settle on a mule and Foster on a horse, and were met by several parties when half a mile out. A little before dark some boys walking to Sardis saw the body of a man lying in the road; beside it stood a mule. An examination revealed the body to be that of Dr. Settle, who was personally known to the boys. The appearance of the body as it lay in the road, and the proximity of the animal, induced the boys to believe that the Doctor had been thrown by the animal and stunned by the fall. In the excitement they failed to discover any blood, and had they done so would doubtless have attributed it to the fall. Turning the body over they discovered that the heart had ceased to beat. The boys now proceeded to the nearest house and communicated the facts to the occupants. A short time afterward a conveyance was procured and the body taken to Sardis. Here it was examined by a physician, who at first adopted the opinion of the boys that the Doctor had fallen from the mule and broken his neck; but finally discovering that the hair at the back of the head was saturated with blood, he made a more critical investigation. A bullet hole, evidently produced by the ball of a deringer pistol, was found, and the horrible truth flashed upon the minds of the spectators that their old friend had been murdered. The ball entered the back of the head and ranged downward toward the stomach, doubtless instantly producing death.

The deceased was well known to nearly everybody in Sardis and the county, and was universally popular. As the news spread, the most intense excitement was produced, and people flocked by scores to the scene of the tragedy. It was known that Dr. Settle and Mr. Foster left the town together in the afternoon. They were intimate friends, and it was beyond belief that the latter could have been the author of so foul a crime. He was not present when the boys found the body; he had evidently gone home after the tragedy. The two were seen together only a short distance from where the murdered man was discovered. This was a strange circumstance. Had Dr. Settle been shot from the roadside, it would have been natural for Foster to either remain with the body, or give the alarm. Neither was done; and the range of the ball rendered it conclusive that the Doctor had been shot by some one on horseback. These facts and probabilities were hurriedly reviewed by the excited populace, and it was resolved to arrest Foster. A civil officer and posse also arrested the suspected man that night, finding him, we believe, at home. The purport of his statement, if he gave any, we have not learned. We hope the examination will result in the establishment of his innocence of the terrible crime which circumstantial evidence has traced to his door. He is an old, esteemed citizen of the county. He and Dr. Settle have been intimate friends and neighbors for many years, and it was known that they had been much together that day. Unless a quarrel originated near the fatal spot, and the shooting was done in a moment of excitement, there could have been no possible motive for the crime.

After Foster's arrest, the officer of the Freedman's Bureau claimed the prisoner, and wrested from him the civil authorities. He was sent to Grenada, and afterwards returned to Sardis, where the case is now undergoing examination.

Dr. Settle was an old resident of the county, and very well known in this city. He was quiet, inoffensive, and probably did not have a personal enemy in the world. He was one of the most genial men we ever knew, never failing to make a favorable impression upon all with whom he came in contact.

D. Monorief to R. C. Bisk, deed, $600, tract of land containing 135 1-3 acres in section No. 2, range 4, in Eleventh Surveyor's District and Fifth Civil District.

CHANCERY COURT.—The following bills have been acted upon by the Court. The clerk requests that solicitors interested in these cases will call for them and prepare the decrees, etc:

Lewis vs Braden, decree for complainant.
Waldran vs Henry et al, injunction dissolved.
Williard vs. Galloway, leave to file answer.
Brown vs same, same.
Crocket vs Temple, order, etc.

The following cases come up to-day for hearing:

Harden vs Avery.
Fry vs Hardin.
Duval vs Duval.

MEMPHIS AND OHIO RAILROAD.—The business on this road is rapidly increasing. From ten to fifteen cars, fully laden, are dispatched daily from Memphis for local points, and upon two hundred to five hundred bales of cotton are also forwarded by the route to a Northern destination. Captain Asa Hill, the popular and attentive passenger agent, may be consulted at the ticket office, No. 10 Madison street. Persons traveling North can obtain all necessary information and be comfortably provided by calling upon Mr. Hill, who will take pleasure in imparting the requisite knowledge of the stages on the route, and everything else that can contribute to an agreeable trip, with the several connections, and the speediest and cheapest advisable to take.

GONE TO MEMPHIS.—Sincerely indeed do we regret to have to chronicle the fact that the Rev. M. Walsh has gone to Memphis, where he will take up his abode. Of all the friends with whom we have had to part during a lifetime, none affected us more than bidding adieu to Father Walsh. The people of Memphis will soon learn to sympathize with us in the loss we have sustained, for the loss to them will be a gain to them. That God will bless his labors, and give him long life and happiness, we sincerely pray.—Nashville Gazette, 10th.

Your loss in this case is certainly our gain, and we cordially welcome the Reverend gentleman to his new field of labors, and we only wish that we had a hundred more such.

THE SOMERVILLE INSTITUTE.—This Institute, for the education and training of the female mind, is in the full tide of a scholastic year. The Doctor informs us that he has room for a few more boarders, and we would advise our readers who have daughters growing up, to send them to the Institute, as we know of no place where their mental and moral training will be more religiously attended to. Dr. Rivers has had a teaching experience of over forty years, and the different positions he has held in some of our first colleges is a guarantee sufficient that his reputation arises from merit of the first order. The young ladies are under the maternal care of Mrs. Menefee, the estimable widow of a gallant patriot, who, looking upon them in the light of a mother, does everything for their comfort.

EMMONS & SON, No. 10 Jefferson and 293 Main street, have just received the Criminal Zeitung, Freeman's Journal, New York Clipper, Turf, Field and Farm, Metropolitan Record, Beadle's new dime novel, No. 134, Irish People, Irish American, American Artisan, Wanderer for November, Horticulturist for October, New York Ledger, Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Boston Pilot, Banner of Light, Peterson's Magazine and Ballou's Monthly for November, London Art Journal and new music. Drop in and examine.

SHELBY COUNTY COURT.—Yesterday being motion day the usual number of motions were heard. To-day the Court will investigate and hear bills of exceptions, etc., after which an adjournment will be had to a special term to be held on the fourth Monday of the present month, at which time the civil docket will be taken up and disposed of if possible. Judge Reeves in the meantime will hold Court at Somerville for two weeks.

THE LAST CHANCE.—Farms on Memphis railroads at one dollar each, and city property for five dollars. Call at the Southern Asylum office, east side of Court Square.

UNITED STATES COURT.—The case of Moore & Co. vs Sloan, occupied the attention of the Court on yesterday. It will be taken up to-day, the argument not being concluded. Judge Trigg gave notice that as Justice Swayne would be in Court next week he would postpone giving any decision until then in the Milliken habeas corpus case. It is understood that the case would be carried up as a test case to the Supreme Court.

From a private dispatch received by Captain M. Pyne, yesterday, we learn that the steamer St. Patrick struck a snag at Skipwith's landing, lost both chimneys, and damaged her cabin badly. No lives were lost. The boat will be here to-day. The Dan. Able will receive her freight. Captain Pyne will go to St. Louis for whatever is necessary to repair the St. Patrick thoroughly. The St. Patrick will take her old place in the Vicksburg trade as soon as possible. Captain Pyne returns his thanks to the merchants of this city and the planters on the river, for the kind patronage they have extended to his boats, and hopes by diligence and attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. 1w

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation; will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. We have put up and sold this article for years past, and can say in confidence and truth of it what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance to affect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operation, and speak in terms of commendation of its medical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we know," after years of experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we have declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. Be sure and call for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other. Sold by druggists throughout the world. Price only thirty-five cents per bottle. Office—24 Fulton street, New York: 205 High Holborn, London, England: 66 St. Paul street, Montreal, Canada. eod

RIVER NEWS.

AVALANCHE OFFICE,
SATURDAY, October 12.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

We continue to have fair, cool weather. There is very little change to note in the stage of the rivers. At Pittsburg the Ohio is falling, with twelve inches in the channel. There is a slight rise reported at Cincinnati from recent rains; thirty inches is the best water found from there to Louisville. At the latter place there is twenty-eight inches in the channel, and falling. The upper Mississippi is falling from Dubuque down, with the channel depth from St. Louis to Cairo variously reported at from five and a half to seven feet. Hence to Cairo scant five feet is all we have at Phillips' and at Thirty-four. White river is falling, but the channel depth continues at about three and half feet to Duvall's Bluff and Augusta. Arkansas river rejoices in thirty inches to Pine Bluff, twenty inches thence to the Rock, and twelve inches to Fort Smith.

IN PORT.

Dan Able, Des Arc, Guidon, J. S. McCune.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Luminary, Captain Bales, is the Atlantic and Mississippi company's packet for New Orleans to-day, at ten a.m.

The J. S. McCune, Captain Duffer, is in port, and will leave for Columbus, Cairo and way points at noon to-day. The McCune is a regular packet, and her office is presided over by Mr. Duff.

The great City of Cairo leaves at five p.m., this day, for Cairo and St. Louis. She is swift, and not excelled in her passenger accommodations. Bob Riley is master, and McCreight, clerk.

The Dan. Able, being in complete and superb condition, leaves this evening for all points to Vicksburg. Captain Jim Lee, her master, has reason to be proud of his handsome and swift packet, which "walks the water like a thing of life." Billy Fields, assisted by Stack Lee, officiates at the desk.

The Des Arc lays over until Tuesday next, when she leaves for Vicksburg.

The Big Horn arrived with freight for the Julia, and departed again for St. Louis yesterday morning.

The Ned Tracy came in yesterday morning, on her first trip in her new trade. She had a good freight.

The Pilgrim, with Captain Tom Berry in command, will leave to-day at five p.m. for Pine Bluff and way points. She carries the United States mail. J. Lee Finney and Andy Granger are her clerks.

The swift and beautiful Rowena, the lady who introduced the fashion of drinking toasts to friends, will back out to-day at her usual hour, for all points on White river. She connects with the train for Little Rock. Captain John B. Davis is master, and Kidder, Harry and Robinson are her clerks.

The Henry Ames, Captain Hicks, will be here to leave for new Orleans on Wednesday.

The Rubicon, Captain Blake, will pass down for Vicksburg to-day at ten a.m. Alf. Grierson is clerk.

The Louisville, Captain A. Q. Ross, will be in port and leave for New Orleans at five p.m. to-day. She is a number one packet and well officered.

In reference to the burning of the Live Oak, at New Orleans, on Saturday last, which we published a few days ago, the New Orleans Crescent gives the following particulars:

"Saturday morning the Live Oak took fire and burned at her wharf, near Bull's Head. The fire originated in the after part of the cabin, and is reported as the work of an incendiary. The steamer is of five hundred tons burden, was lately engaged in the Red river and is mainly owned by Captain Richard England. She was insured in the Union company. The boat had been laid up, and was, when the accident happened, lying at the foot of Canal street, tied to Ship-wharf 35 of the upper landing. Carpenters were employed in patch work fixins, and the engines and the chimneys had but recently been touched up by these operators. A roofing firm were employed to cover the hurricane deck, and their material had been stored in a room near the wheelhouse. All the hands left the steamer in charge of the boat watchman, who kept a lookout "forrard." A lamp was left burning at the extreme aft of the cabin, on a table near the door leading out to the rear of the ladies' cabin, in the extreme aft of the boat. The flames burst out shortly after one o'clock in the morning, and a high wind blowing at the time, soon spread them forward, until the whole upper works and cabin were destroyed. The firemen were speedy on hand, and their efforts prevented further destruction than that which ensued. It is conjectured that the high wind must have blown open the door in the after part of the boat, tipped over the lamp, and in this manner set the whole on fire. It could not have been the work of an incendiary, as at first supposed, for how could he get on board when the boat was watched? It is understood the steamer belonged to one Fagin, who is partly covered in his loss by insurance. The Live Oak was built at Paducah."

The steamer Only Chance arrived at St. Joseph a few days ago, direct from Fort Benton, this being her second trip this year to that point. She took all her through freight to Benton, being sixty tons, over sixteen inches of water, and steamed the current at Drowned Man's rapids without warp or line, a feat accomplished by no other boat save one. She brings down $3,000,000 in treasury and about two hundred passengers. Some of the latter are from Gallatin, wrecked on Rondow rapids on the 8th of September.

The Pittsburg Gazette says:

The following is the quarterly report of the local inspectors of steamboats, as presented in the United States District Court on Friday and ordered to be filed: We have the honor to submit this report of the operations of the Board for the quarter ending September 30, 1867. Since our last report we have inspected the following steamers:

	No.	Tonnage
Passenger steamers	5	1062 57
Towing steamers	4	1222 26
Ferry steamers	5	357 04
Freight steamers	5	676 81
Total	19	3318 68

Licenses have been issued to forty-nine pilots and thirty-eight engineers. Of this number, there are three original pilot licenses, and forty-six renewals of licenses; of engineers, six original and thirty-two renewals. We are happy to state that during the quarter there has been no loss of life or property in this district from marine disaster. During the year just ended, we have inspected one hundred and fifty-six steamers of all classes, with a total of 39,512 54 tons. Owing to the extreme low water this summer, there has been but very little business done at the port.

General Worthen's corpse have been engaged for some days past in taking soundings on the falls at Louisville.

A railroad across the Ohio, at the falls, for the transportation of stone for the building of the six piers for the new bridge to be erected, is nearly completed.

The Ella Faber, which recently sunk in the Ohio was raised, taken to Portland, caught fire and is a total loss. She was a sternwheeler, and worth about $10,000.

Mr. Baker was a wicked man and a very great swearer on dry land. Crossing the ocean once, the ship was caught in the midst of a fearful storm. Baker was terribly frightened, and was seen to go down on his knees and with uplifted hands heard to utter the following: "O, Lord, forty-one years have I lived and never asked a favor! Oh, Lord, just set my foot on dry land, and I will never ask another!"

It is often asked who first introduced salt pork into the navy? Noah, when he took Ham into the Ark!

[Nota rather Bene than otherwise, Noah got so sick of Ham in the Ark, that he said he was Arkustomed to see it ad Noah see ham.] (ad nauseam.)]

TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 9, 1867.

The standing Committees were announced. Mr. Smith, of Shelby and Fayette, Chairman of the Committee on the Military, a member of the Committee on the Penitentiary, and of the Committee on Incorporations. (Look out for wildcat charters.) Three daily papers were, on motion of Mr. Smith, of Shelby, allowed to each member. Three hundred dollars worth of postage stamps were ordered for the Senators. A bill respecting evidence in ejectment suits referred to Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Elliott, of Rutherford, introduced a bill repealing laws disqualifying negroes as officeholders and jurors. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Rodgers introduced a bill "to secure the laborer his just reward for work and labor done." This bill repeals the stay law in cases of judgment for work and labor done, and repeals the exemption laws in such cases. It also provides, in suits by servants or hirelings for immediate execution, and subjects all property of the debtor to the satisfaction of the same. Passed first reading, and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The annual message of the Governor, heretofore published in the AVALANCHE, was read.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Daily opening prayers by loyal clergymen were invited.

The vote for Governor was then counted in joint convention, and Brownlow's majority ascertained to be 51,484.

Mr. Taylor offered resolutions favoring the impeachment of President Johnson. Laid over.

Five thousand copies of the Governor's message were ordered to be printed in English, and one thousand in German.

The standing committees were then announced. Mr. Hamilton, of Shelby, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means—(it should be called mean ways); a member of the Committee on Incorporations; of the Committee on Banks, and of the Committee on Tippling and Tippling Houses.

Mr. Ryder, of Shelby, is Chairman of the Committee on Incorporations; a member of the Committee on Internal Improvements; of the Committee on Claims; and of the Committee on Banks.

Mr. Waters introduced a bill providing that no citizen shall be denied the right to hold office or sit on juries on account of race or color. Laid over under the rules.

A similar bill was introduced by Mr. Ryder, in the form of an amendment to the franchise law, annulling the section which denies to the colored citizens the right to hold office and to sit on juries. Referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

ALABAMA ITEMS.

The Alabama river is reported to be at very low stage.

Out of 3,921 votes polled in Mobile, only 50 were those of white men.

Montgomery received last week 1,911 bales of cotton and shipped 1,037 bales.

Mr. L. B. Shaver, of Montgomery, has in press a full history of the 60th Alabama regiment, of which he was a member. It will appear shortly.

Gadsden, Alabama, on the upper Coosa river within one and a half miles from Black Creek Falls, contains one thousand inhabitants, and the Times says the number is increasing rapidly.

We learn from the Mobile Tribune, of the 9th, that Mayor Horton, on the day before, discharged three honest, worthy white men from the city corporation force, and had three negroes put in their places.

Mrs. Dr. Samuel E. Norton, wife of a highly esteemed physician of Montgomery, died suddenly on Saturday morning, in that city.

Thomas P. Lewis, of Tuscaloosa, has been appointed Deputy United States Marshal and Messenger in Bankruptcy in the Fourth Division.

Hardy Clements, long a resident of Tuscaloosa county, died at his residence in that county, on the 27th ultimo, in the 85th year of his age.

The Selma Messenger says that at the election in that city Conservative tickets were taken from negroes, and Radical tickets substituted for them, and deposited in the ballot box.

The Eutaw Whig and Observer of the 4th says: "The weather has been dry and favorable for gathering crops lately. The cotton in this neighborhood has not been so badly hurt by worms as in the eastern part of the county. We are told they have nearly eat the crop up in the prairies and lowlands."

The Montgomery Sentinel says that General Swayne sent a squad of cavalry to Union Springs to arrest Captain Green Andrews, charged with shooting Keffer, and the Justice who committed him to bail. That the Justice was arrested and carried to Montgomery, but after full investigation General Swayne released him from custody, and he returned home. Captain Andrews, it says, made his escape, after his residence had been surrounded.

We further learn from the Gadsden Times that an Ohio man named Russell Hooper, one of the memorable Rousseau raiders, recently bought from a negro some cows, for which he paid spurious greenbacks. Hooper was arrested near Jacksonville and lodged in jail. He told his captors, while begging for liberty, etc., that although he had fought to free the negroes, "d—n them, this was all the use he and his friends had for them."

We learn from the Mobile Evening News of the 8th, that Mr. J. O'Connor, an employe on the Sub-Marine No. 10, was killed by a squad of the Fifteenth United States infantry, on the night of the 4th instant, at a house near Starke's wharf, where he was creating a disturbance. A squad of soldiers were sent to arrest him; he refused to be arrested and was shot by the soldiers. The deceased was under the influence of liquor at the time.

A Model Nebraskian.

A correspondent who accompanied the Indian Commissioner, thus describes a Border Millionaire:

Scarce had the evening shades set in than a character—a genuine character—such a one as few civilized communities would tolerate—appeared on the scene of action, and stirred up no inconsiderable commotion. It was the notorious desparado, Jack Morrow. With his coarse pantaloons tucked in his boot-tops, Bowery style; three diamond studs glittering in a dirty shirt bosom; a broad brimmed hat, fantastically cocked on one side, he dashed in upon the commissioners, slapped Sherman cordially on the back, and then gave his views on Indians. He told the peace commission they were a d—d humbug, and knew nothing about Indians at all; said he had lived among them for twenty years; knew the Indian character to a T; had just as they be appointed an Indian agent as not, with full power to clean out all the refractory ones,—delivering his remarks with so many strange oaths and droll witticisms, with such a devilmay-care sort of style, so much of braggadocio, blow-hard, and common sense, that he was tolerated rather than put down by the commission. Jack is worth a couple of hundred thousand dollars, being the nabob of this country. He has owned for years the finest rauche any where in these parts. He is given to going to Omaha, and running the Herndon house on his plan. He discharges all the servants, smashes up all the furnitures, and staves things generally. Being Jack Morrow, and always footing the bill, be it five dollars or five thousand, why no one has anything to say. Jack appeared in the correspondents' room; sprawled himself—boots, diamond-studs, and old hat—at full length on the bed, and introduced himself in this style:

"Perhaps, by G—d, you don't know who I am? Well, I'm Jack Morrow, and I don't care a d—n for nobody. Perhaps you don't like my style. Well, I don't't care a G—d—n whether you do or not. Now I'll take a drink."

So a pint flask full of Bourbon was handed him, and it all disappeared at one long, long draught. Setting it down empty, he observed, "I never refuse a social drink; tain't right; it's agin my principles."

For two hours this character went on with stories, yarns, jokes, and blackguardisms. He sang songs; he danced breakdowns; he talked French, Spanish, and mongrel Latin; and concluded his performance by waking up the whole house by falling, full length, head first, down a long flight of stairs, striking solid. He soon arose and said, "I'll take another drink. Where's General Sherman?"

The Hypocrite.

An exchange paper has the following good notice of the Hon. Charles Sumner:

Two years ago—in 1865—Charles Sumner, Senator from Massachusetts, offered in Congress a series of resolutions, of which the following is one:

"And be it further resolved, That a government founded on military power, or having its origin in military orders, can not be a republican form of government, according to the requirement of the Constitution, and that its recognition will be contrary, not only to the Constitution, but also to that essential principle of our Government which, in the language of Jefferson, establishes the supremacy of the civil over the military authority."

In 1867 this same Charles Sumner voted for a bill "installing a purely military authority over ten States of the Union, thus giving them a government founded on military power, destructive of a "republican form of government," violative of the "requirements of the Constitution," and establishing the supremacy of the military over the civil authority. Out upon the vile and perjured hypocrite.

Notice to the Public.

IN retiring from the Drug business in this city we would give notice that we have sold our entire Stock, together with the fixtures, Lease, etc., of the well known stand, No. 316 Main street, to Dr. J. B. WASSON & Co., to whom we were formerly successors; and after returning our heartfelt thanks to our numerous patrons and friends who have so liberally favored us during our continuation of business, we solicit for our successors a continuance of the same. As to the character and qualifications of our worthy successors in the branch of trade, they are well and favorably known in this city and throughout the country generally for to be such it is important that the old business be closed up, and for that purpose we will be found at the old stand.

MCGAFFAWAY & CLUSKEY.

The unsettled business of NIPGEN & REAKIRT must be settled by either of the old parties at the old stand.

JOHN A. NIPGEN.
NIPGEN & REAKIRT.

To the Public.

In having made the above purchase and resumed business at the old and well known stand, No. 316 Main street, where we have so long and for so many years of unsalubrious and arduously not our old friends and patrons; and as a train of unforeseen circumstances have visited us we are so around to our former place of business, it is with feelings of heartfelt gratulation that we again appeal to our former patrons and the public generally a large and well selected stock of Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, and, indeed, everything usually kept in a first class drug store. Thanking the liberal patronage to which we are now adding, and will continue to add constantly, the choicest articles the markets can afford. And over we shall import from the market direct, and from first hand dealers, we intend making the House in the Drug department of the south; we would therefore, hold out special inducements to both Wholesale and Retail Dealers in the city and country, to give us a call, assuring them that our Stock before purchasing elsewhere, for we are determined to our close vigilance of the markets of this and foreign countries, as well as with sound, practical judgment in making our purchases, to be able, with the choice quality of our Stock and the low prices we will offer them at, to be able to vie with any, and over defy competition. Anxiously hoping, therefore, that these propositions for we intend to make good—be better all we have proposed, will meet with the hearty concurrence of our old friends and patrons and the community generally. We are very respectfully yours, J. B. WASSON & CO.

SECOND DRAWING

OF THE

SOUTHERN ASYLUM LAND CO.

AT HERNANDO, MISS, AUGUST, 1867

THE FIRST DRAWING, which took place at Hernando (Desoto), Miss., on the 15th instant, was attended with unusual success, when it is remembered that but a few weeks elapsed from the inception of the enterprise to that event. Seventeen thousand dollars worth of tickets having been sold, a like amount of property was drawn for, upon the supervision of gentlemen selected by the ticket holders present. The utmost harmony and good feeling pervaded those present, and, as will be seen from the subjoined certificate of the managers, the affair was conducted to a close in a most gratifying and satisfactory manner:

HERNANDO, MISS., June 15, 1867.

We hereby certify, that the above report of he first drawing of the Southern Asylum is correct, and that the proceedings were characterized by a spirit of fairness and justness unsurpassed by any drawing of which we have any knowledge. The managers of the Company placed the tickets and funds under our sole management and control.

(Signed)

J. B. MORGAN,
W. W. CAMPTON,
ROBERT TRIMBLE,
H. MAGEVNEY,
V. A. VACCARO,
JOHN AINSLIE,
Committee.

J. M. HALL, Clerk.

The prizes drawn on this occasion numbered forty-seven, and comprised lots in the vicinity of Memphis, Tenn., Collins, Miss., and Hernando, Miss., deeds to which have been made to the lucky ticket holders. For this, the second drawing, however, were able to offer our patrons still more attractive inducements to interest themselves in our enterprise. From a lengthy list of property, much of which has already been advertised to the public, we select the following as our
